Chess

In school, it was compulsory to choose a sport and I chose chess because I was too lazy for any other physical sports. But slowly I developed interest in it.

Define your own success

Don't let anyone else define your success.

Don't let anyone tell you that you failed just because that's how they define success.

Early success is no good

Don't give up; don't get sad or depressed if you fail at first.

You'll get everything when you deserve it, and early success will do nothing but boost your ego.

Celebrate your failures

We have heard celebrate every tiny success. But accepting failures is as important as celebrating success. We should even celebrate our failures.

Continue trying and continue failing, try again, and be satisfied when you accomplish your own definition of success.

Thank you
